

A FORTUNATE MISUNDERSTANDING

Long time ago it had a King. Now this King was friending with a lady, but this lady had she husband. The King wanted to kill de husband so he tell the husband, "Look meh mudder sick and ah want to get some lion milk." The King say to heself when the husband go by the lion he go get eat up.

The husband now wanted to please the King, so he decide to go for the lion milk. The husband went; from far when he watch good he see all the lion dey one place, so he say, "Sitaram, sitaram mousee."

So the lion say to heself how this man go come hya alone, he brave enough man, like meh sister in difficulty somewhere, that's why he must be come.

The husband say, "I have a patient that sick too bad and ah want some of de milk. So you see the husband put some of he gyan (wisdom).

Now the lion thinking to heself, maybe this man doh want me to panic and thing, dat's why he not telling me is meh sister that sick.

So the lion say, "Come and take de milk." The lion put the breast by him and he start to milk. The husband milk de bottle full and then he say, "Awright ah going back fast otherwise if ah doh go back fast the patient go dead.

The husband take de milk and come back by the King. When the King see him, the King get shocked that he still living.
